Mission Statement

Ray Graham Association is an innovative, person-driven organization that supports and works with people with disabilities, their families and the community to improve their quality of life.

Statement of Principals

- All people have value and abilities.
- People should be treated with dignity and respect.
- People have a right and a responsibility to make choices in their lives.
- People should be offered inclusive opportunities for work, support in living, access to education and occasions for leisure in their community.
- People deserve to be as self-sufficient as possible and live in a safe environment.
- Families are an important resource and should be supported.
- All people should have a share in our common freedoms, privileges, constitutional protections and civil rights.
- Communities should be accessible to people with disabilities.
- People deserve high quality services and supports that enable full community inclusion and participation.
- Cultural diversity should be honored and supported.
- Continued expansion of services for people with disabilities and their families should build upon natural supports already in the community.

Dear Friends,

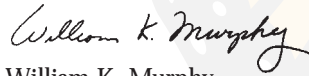

Thank you. Put simply, this is the easiest way to summarize what we wish to tell each and every supporter of Ray Graham Association for People with Disabilities.

During the past years we have watched Ray Graham Association grow, expand, serve and support more and more persons with disabilities and their families. We have watched support from the community, volunteers and other organizations increase each year. We have watched employees of Ray Graham Association become stronger and smarter. We have watched as all of these things have happened, and we have to say thank you, because without your support, none of it would have been possible.

During 2000-2001, Ray Graham Association continued to grow and develop as an organization. Transportation Services continued to be the largest provider of para-transit in DuPage County. Intake staff assisted 860 callers in search of service and support. Volunteers contributed more than 14,000 hours throughout the organization, including key roles on boards, in fundraising, and in support activities. And in February 2000, the Council on Quality and Leadership in Supports for People with Disabilities awarded Ray Graham Association Reaccreditation with Distinction for three years, citing the "organization's commitment to excellence," and "the provision of services to the highest quality." The success of Ray Graham Association for People with Disabilities is seen in the faces of the children and adults served.

As you read about Bobby, Moises, Marcia, Bill, Greg and Karen, know that they are only six of more than 2,000 people Ray Graham Association supports. And also know that your financial contributions, volunteerism, and advocacy on behalf of Ray Graham Association and people with disabilities have contributed to their success.

Sincerely,

William K. Murphy
President
Ray Graham Association

What do a volunteer, a son, a friend, a co-worker, an aunt and a commuter all have in common?

They are people we come across everyday as we live, work and play. They are us. Some are young, some are shy and some are tall, but they are all people. They have hopes and fears, friends and families, strengths and weaknesses. Perhaps a person with a disability is more like you and I than you realize, for they too are volunteers, sons, friends, co-workers, aunts and commuters.

Founded in 1950 and named in honor of the first director of special education in Illinois, Ray Graham Association has 31 program sites across the Chicago area. Ray Graham Association provides vocational, respite, recreational and residential services for people with disabilities and their families.

As you review "Everyday People," the 2000-2001 Ray Graham Association for People with Disabilities Annual Report, we invite you to celebrate the achievements of the individuals featured. They are representative of the more than 2,000 children and adults supported each year.

Community Learning Center

Elmhurst and Lombard, Illinois

They've taken trips to sunny Florida and weekend getaways to the woods of Wisconsin. But no matter where they are or what they are doing, they are together, as a family. Bill Loehman is a son, and his parents Joanie and Philip couldn't be more proud. Bill spends his days at the Community Learning Center in Elmhurst, interacting with his peers and developing skills he will use throughout his life. Ray Graham Association operates Community Learning Centers in Elmhurst and Lombard, supporting 243 individuals daily, helping them pursue goals and develop skills necessary to participate in their communities.

At the Community Learning Centers, small group sessions allow participants to experience horticulture, cooking, arts and crafts and recreational and leisure activities. The men and women also take part in "peer groups," where they interact with people with similar interests and abilities.

The centers allow individuals more opportunities to connect with their community, by volunteering at schools and local organizations, with part-time employment and by making friends and relationships in the community that will last a lifetime.

Family Support

Locations throughout DuPage County

Starting high school can be overwhelming, perhaps even more so for a child with disabilities, such as Bobby Richter. But Bobby doesn't have to worry, because Sara Killey has already started and is ready to help him with the transition. Bobby and Sara are friends. Bobby came to the Bednorz Respite Home on an emergency basis when his mother suddenly passed away, leaving Bobby and his two brothers without a home. Staff responded to the physical, emotional and educational needs of 125 children between the ages of 3 and 17, who came to the Bednorz Respite Center last year, with care and compassion. The Bednorz Respite Home is one of only five centers in the Chicago area providing residential respite. Last year, more than 450 families received respite care through the Family Support department of Ray Graham Association. The program provides a temporary break to the primary caregiver of a person with disabilities.

Ray Graham Association also provides care to children living in group homes in Bensenville, West Chicago and Woodridge. Fourteen children live at these homes where they attend school, interact with their peers and build friendships that will last a lifetime. Early Intervention services at both the Burr Ridge and Wheaton locations were expanded to include occupational, physical and speech therapies, to further develop the skills of 70 infants and toddlers. Family Support provides services to children with developmental disabilities and their parents and also provides sibling workshops so that every member of a family develops understanding and awareness.

Anna Emery Hanson Center

Burr Ridge, Illinois

In addition to working at Phillips Flowers and Einstein Bagels, Greg Wettour spends time each week at King Bruwaert House, a retirement home in Burr Ridge. Greg is a volunteer. Whether he is cleaning the greenhouse or watering the gardens, Greg enjoys working with plants and people. With guidance from Natalie Zelman, Director of Landscaping and Horticulture for King Bruwaert House, Greg's volunteer work ensures that the 101 residents enjoy the lovely gardens and flowers which they admire daily.

Greg became interested in plant life while taking classes in horticulture at the Anna Emery Hanson Center. More than 825 individuals with and without disabilities participate in activities at the Hanson Center annually. Children and adults have a range of classes to choose from including culinary, gardening, and painting. For young children, the Maple Grove Montessori School offers 45 children an inclusive pre-school environment. The Horsemanship program now offers lessons throughout the year with the opening of Marcia's Place, a 19,000 square foot indoor riding arena. The Thomas F. Morris Sr. Service Dog program also completed its first year of service, training five dogs to support individuals with disabilities. In collaboration with seven area park districts, 160 children and adults were offered opportunities for recreational, social and educational experiences through Gateway Special Recreation.

By offering the only service dog program and one of 19 horsemanship programs in the State of Illinois, Ray Graham Association demonstrates innovative service to individuals with disabilities in an inclusive environment.

Karen Kulpaka, 47, Addison, Illinois with her nieces Hannah, 11 and Carly, 9, Dockery of Western Springs, Illinois

Iona Glos Specialized Living Center

Addison, Illinois

Hannah Dockery, 11, and Carly Dockery, 9, are active children, but always look forward to visiting their mother's sister, Karen Kulpaka. Karen is an aunt and is a resident at the Iona Glos Specialized Living Center (SLC) in Addison.

Opened in 1980, the SLC is a campus style residential facility that is home to 100 men and women. The residents are provided with intensive, individualized training and care, while promoting community involvement and inclusion. Opportunities for residents to develop friendships, learn skills and enjoy their community are provided daily.

The men and women are also encouraged to enjoy and participate in shopping, visiting families, volunteerism and recreation on their own and with friends. Residents are also supported to participate in vocational training and are active in both the Community Learning Center and Hanson Center programs.

Supported Living

Locations throughout DuPage and Cook Counties

Every morning, Moises Juarez catches the 8:14 a.m. train to work. With his uniform on and his bag over his shoulder, he listens to music on his headphones until he reaches his stop. Then it is onto a bus. Moises is a commuter, a nine-to-five worker, just like hundreds of thousands of Chicagoans who use public transportation.

Moises is a resident of Ray Graham Association's Sunrise Courts in Roselle, learning independence, living in an apartment with three roommates, and working five days a week to pay his share of the bills.

Nearly 300 adults are supported in 23 homes, apartments and condominiums throughout DuPage and northwest Cook Counties. The Supported Living program offers opportunities for men and women to learn skills and gain experiences needed to manage their own lives. Money handling, workplace decisions and household tasks, such as laundry, cooking and cleaning are among the residents learning experiences. Like Moises, many individuals learn to use public transportation to get to work, complete grocery shopping and visit friends. Attending community functions, going to church or enjoying a neighborhood barbecue are not uncommon. These homes are regular, everyday houses, inclusive in the communities of Addison, Downers Grove, Elgin, Elmhurst, Glendale Heights, Lombard, Naperville, Roselle and Villa Park.

Vocational Services

Elmhurst, Illinois

The lunch hour is a busy time at Steamers Restaurant in Winfield. Customers don't have much time and need their orders filled quickly. Some employees take orders and clean tables, while others work in the kitchen, like Marcia Hughes. Marcia is a co-worker. With guidance from her supervisor Jan Vassil, Marcia assists her co-workers and helps to ensure that each customer's visit is more enjoyable than the last.

Serving 365 individuals annually, Vocational Services offers individuals opportunities for employment, vocational training and job coaching. When a person is referred to Vocational Services, they are partnered with an Employment Specialist. Their skills and interests are assessed off-site or at the training center, and training is provided to ensure that the right job is found. Last year, more than 120 men and women were supported to obtain community jobs. Bally Total Fitness, Elmhurst College, Old Navy, Target, and Wyndam Garden Hotels are among the employers who hired individuals supported by Ray Graham Association.

Ray Graham Association continues to provide employment opportunities in a Sheltered Workshop environment in Elmhurst. The 40,000 square foot facility has handled projects for Argonne National Laboratories, Delta Airlines, Canon USA, Morgan Stanley Dean Witter and Sony. Last year, 230 individuals received training and supervision to work on contracts that provided more than $550,000 in income.

The monarch butterfly, orange and black in color, starts its life as a caterpillar and emerges into a beautiful butterfly. Every spring, millions of them repopulate eastern North America after surviving the winter in the high mountains west of Mexico City.

This incredible journey consists of up to 2,500 miles each way. The monarch butterfly and people with disabilities share many of the same characteristics. Each is beautiful, resilient, fascinating and courageous. Each meets their journey toward independence as an opportunity to soar to great heights in meeting life's challenges.
